ENGLISH 2130

Science Fiction Literature

"The sky above the port was the color of television, tuned to a dead channel."

—William Gibson, Neuromancer

Through exploring stories from some of the most imaginative authors of all time—including H.G. Wells, Isaac Asimov, Robert Heinlein, Arthur C. Clark, H.P. Lovecraft, and Ray Bradbury—ENGL 2130 offers a unique journey into an often-overlooked genre of literature: Science Fiction.
