GENERALLY

RECOMMENDATION. It is highly recommended that you read the Board of Regents Policy and Procedures R512 and Snow College's Residency Policy, along with the application and instruction sheet for further detail on residency eligibility. This will assist you in determining your eligibility under Utah law. This information will also advise you of the supporting documentation you must provide with your application. Remember to make early application to avoid missing the third week of the semester. Early filing will accommodate early notification of residency eligibility.

QUALIFYING AS A RESIDENT. There are a number of non-academic reasons for a move to Utah that allow the Registrar's Office to waive the time requirement to grant residency. You can find these exceptions to the general rule at the Registrar's Office webpage at www.snow.edu/residency. If you select "Residency" from the index on the right-hand panel, you will find detailed information on qualifying for resident student status for tuition purposes.

A person's residency status can only be determined upon a complete statement of facts made by the individual. You must submit a complete residency packet by the end of the third week of the semester. A complete packet includes a residency application and all required evidence. Please note that all materials submitted as supporting documentation with a residency application become a permanent part of the applicant's residency file and will not be returned. Therefore, the applicant should submit photocopies of all supporting documentation.

An individual must be admitted and enrolled in classes at Snow College before an application for residency reclassification will be processed.

If the reclassification is denied, the student may appeal to the Vice President of Student Services. The student must file an appeal with the Vice President within 10 days of the Registrar's final decision. There is no appeal from the Vice President's decision.
